"Tex are you ok" church said nervously

"church... I, I, I love you" tex said as if she was about to die, Luckily she had just fainted

"I can't believe she loved you church... that has to be impossible, she's never loved you no matter how much you complemented her." tucker said surprisingly. "and you also finally got a head shot now its time to celebrate." church was speechless he never thought a little girl would beat up the best freelancer there ever was. tucker just frowned because he never got to celebrate even once.

"im taking her to her room she needs alot of rest." church said the same way as before that morning everyone was wide awake especially church he could not stop thinking about Tex.

"hey, church have you seen tex." wash asked in a somewhat polite mood

"why?" caboose dressed in churches armor and voice changer he bought from a tv show that looked really cool.

"because i need her to talk to me for a sec." wash said to he thought was church but was actually caboose

"why?" caboose said again.

"because i need to talk to her about something important" wash said getting a little madder each time he said that

"Why?" he said again

"church get out of my way" wash said calmly

"why" he said AGAIN!

"because i need to get past" wash said

"umm she's not here right now... umm... she just left to... umm... kill the reds" he said in cabooses way of making a lie.

"caboose get out of my way" wash said angrily

"nope... Sheila's right behind you so you better run" caboose said

"no shes not I wouldv'e heard her" wash said sarcastically

"alright then... i warned you... shiela fire main cannon."caboose said. sheila fired and wash jumped over it hitting caboose...

Red vs blue the unseen episodes season 2

Episode 15,

everyone went to the back of the base. there was more explosions back there, but when they saw it was just sheila trying to wake up tex (even though she wasn't there) sheila kept on firing until she noticed them all just standing there.

"oh...ummm hey everybody what are you guys doing here, where's caboose" sheila asked nervously than ever

"i was about to ask you the same question...where...is...he" church asked angrily

"what are you all looking at me for? wash did it." sheila said while she was about to cry.

"wash you better have a good explanation for this." church said even angrier trying to keep it in.

"hey its not my fault she shot and i jumped so its her fault, I just didn't think i could kill him that easily." wash said, >church just gave him a nasty look than he sighed and said "alright i didn't think it was harder than very very very easy"

"alright then ill make you a deal... if you don't come back until december 31st then you can come back all you want." church said as he then out his hand out to shake on it.

"December 31st!? It can't wait that long maine's getting stronger." wash replied in a surprisingly questionable expression.

"I don't care she needs to recover" church said again

"fine, but don't blame me if your dead" wash said

"I won't" church said

Red VS Blue

"Hey simmons can i borrow one of your.. I mean, me, mean gri-... I, I, I mean dead man's arms." sarge said stuttering

"sure what for?" simmons asked

"well we're out of spike's food and i need food for him to kill the blues." Sarge said while simmons was laughing griff came out of his bunker yelling

"NO,NO,NO,NO,NOOOOOO" griff said yelling, sarge asked what's his explanation for yelling and griff said

"NO! your not using my arm for food." griff said demandingly.

"we'll see about that..." sarge cocked his shotgun

"AAAAAAAAAAHHHHHHHHHHH" sarge kept chasing griff and finally griff got tired so he tricked sarge into running around in circles for no reason while he went up to the top of the base and took a nap.

"hey church you haven't said a cus word in a long time. Why?" tucker asked

"I dont know... im going to see if Tex is alright." church said
